

Your Efforts Go Even Further With Students Mentoring Students

High School Students from American Preparatory School are already giving back to their community by serving as volunteers at JA City for 5th grade students from Moroni Elementary. These 10 students had all attended JA City as 5th graders themselves and were able to come back and serve as mentors; giving them the unique opportunity of seeing how they could impact the students from Moroni and how being a mentor would impact them, as well! Here are a few of their comments:

"The thing I liked most about volunteering was helping the kids and watching them be adults and I think the most important thing the 5th graders learned during their time in JA City was how they to be adults by themselves ." -Ajla Halaba

"I think the best thing about coming back to volunteer in JA City was seeing how different my stress was. In 5th grade I was stressed about not knowing how to run the business and as a volunteer I didn't know how to guide these kids. I loved seeing how all these kids grew up in a matter of a couple hours and saw how hard it was to actually be an adult. I think it was important for these 5th graders to learn to work efficiently even under pressure and it was amazing how well they handled it." - Valeria Garcia

JA Students LOVE all you do for them!

Thank you to our volunteers.

"The coolest part about JA City was seeing the kids step out of their comfort zones and work with everyone around them. And I learned as a volunteer that communication is very important, especially in a work environment." - Jair Zamudio
